

Alliance for Children's Rights TAY Program Director, Attorney

POSITION SUMMARY:

The TAY (Transition Aged Youth) Program supports transition age youth 16-24 with a range of legal and non-legal services to promote their independence and well-being. Advocates in this program help foster youth overcome legal and other hurdles that they encounter on their path to adulthood, through individual advocacy, connection to resources, and case management. Life skills workshops and the development of innovative training tools are also dynamic components of this program that inform and empower youth to know and exercise their rights. The Director will lead the TAY Program, represent youth in legal matters, and work in conjunction with the policy program to promote legislative and other policy efforts to remove barriers to employment, housing, education, and health for foster youth and former foster youth.

ABOUT THE ALLIANCE:

The Alliance for Children's Rights protects the rights of impoverished, abused and neglected children and youth. Our lawyers, advocates and social workers, together with hundreds of pro bono attorneys and community volunteers, ensure that children who are at-risk or in foster care have safe, stable homes and can access the education, healthcare, and financial supports that they need. We also help transition age youth overcome barriers to their stability and success, and we work statewide to improve child welfare practices and policies in order to remove the many obstacles that our clients face. Since 1992, we have helped over 150,000 children.

Charity Navigator has awarded the Alliance its highest 4-star rating for the past eight years in a row. This puts the Alliance in the top 2% of charities in the U.S. rated by Charity Navigator. The 4-star rating reflects the Alliance's sound fiscal management and commitment to accountability and transparency.

The Alliance is well known in the child welfare community for its knowledge, expertise, and accomplishments. Alliance staff members and our partnering pro bono attorneys are advocates for our most vulnerable children and their caregivers. Being the voice of young people who often have no voice, and otherwise could be forgotten, is incredibly rewarding.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

The TAY Program Director will report to the Managing Attorney and Legal Director and oversee staff, multiple projects and pro bono attorneys and other volunteers:

- Work directly and in workgroups with Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS), Probation, minor's attorneys, Juvenile Court, and other advocates to ensure youth receive benefits and services to overcome barriers to housing, healthcare, education and employment
- Handle a small caseload including but not limited to identity theft, consumer fraud, housing issues, sealing juvenile records, and Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Work with the Policy Director and policy program staff to develop and implement state and county policies
- Oversee staff who help youth access housing, public benefits, financial aid, and other transition resources
- Participate in a specialized court for TAY to ensure they receive services, benefits, and information
- Develop, conduct and oversee staff and volunteers organizing legal and life skills trainings and workshops
- Collaborate with staff on development of youth leadership, job coaches, and mentors
- Work with Pro Bono Director to recruit, train, and supervise volunteer attorneys, law students, and lay volunteers to assist on individual cases and to conduct trainings
- Work with the Communications and Development Departments on electronic, print, and video communications and events relating to youth
- Assist with grant writing, reports, and presentations to support work for teens and young adults
